

REPUBLICANS IN DISARRAY

by Carl Golden, December 7, 2021

When Republican victories narrowed the partisan gap in the House of Representatives to eight seats in 2020 (221-213) and followed it this year by prevailing in the Virginia gubernatorial race, the party was positively ecstatic about its ever-brightening future and enormously enhanced odds of winning Congressional control in the 2022 midterms.

With those gains in hand, coupled with the sinking public approval ratings of President Biden, Minority Leader Kevin McCarthy could now spend more time and energy auditioning for the role of House Speaker, leading a Republican majority when Congress convenes its 2023 session.

Thus far, though, McCarthy's audition seems more like a third-rate vaudeville act.

His members have fallen to remarkably tasteless infighting, flinging cringe-worthy and profane invective at one another amid demands that the handful of Republicans who supported the trillion-dollar infrastructure legislation be drummed out of the party.

McCarthy's efforts to restore some sense of order to his raucous caucus haven't achieved a great deal, evidenced by his frustrated appeal for behavior because "this isn't junior high school."

One of his protagonists, Georgia's conspiracy theorist Congresswoman Marjorie Taylor Greene, responded by boldly declaring that McCarthy had not locked up the votes to ascend to the speakership and hinted that he'd face serious challenges should the party regain control.

Greene, along with equally outspoken colleagues Lauren Boebert of Colorado and Paul Gosar of Arizona, have created a massive political and public relations headache for McCarthy by stoutly defending their controversial comments and ratcheting up their already overheated rhetoric, keeping the issue alive in the media and drowning out any Republican issue-oriented messaging.

Greene and Gosar were removed earlier from their committee assignments for their public comments ridiculing and threatening Democrats while House Speaker Nancy Pelosi is under increasing pressure to impose similar punishment on Boebert in response to the Colorado representative's recent remark hinting that Minnesota Rep. Ilhan Omar, a Muslim, was a terrorist.

When South Carolina Congresswoman Nancy Mace criticized the anti-Muslim comments, Greene pounced on her, calling her "trash" to which Mace responded by calling Greene "crazy."

When the House approved one part of the Biden administration's infrastructure package with 13 Republican votes, it produced demands from the right the 13 be expelled from the party, a self-defeating insistence from a party already in the minority and trying to claw its way out in a favorable political climate.

While the Biden administration is under siege for its decisions on issues both foreign and domestic - including stubborn inflationary pressures on the economy and a resurgent COVID-19 pandemic - Republicans have been unable to take full advantage of the president's troubles and instead are bogged down in a family brawl which shows no signs of abating.

McCarthy seems reluctant to move more decisively to rein in the far right elements, partly out of concern he'll need their support in his campaign for Speaker and - more politically fraught - out of fear of offending former President Donald Trump, whose grip on the national party seems to tighten with each passing week.

McCarthy has stepped carefully in Trump's presence, recognizing the ex-president's popularity with the party base and understanding the influence he wields could block his path to the speaker's post.

If Republicans regain control of the House next year, Trump will take a victory lap whether he deserves to or not and could play a decisive role in the leadership selection process.

McCarthy understands the delicate spot he occupies and appreciates the balancing act necessary to create at least of semblance of internal peace and calm.

Should the open combat continue, though, it is inevitable that the American people will begin to wonder whether a Republican Party unable to unify itself can be trusted to lead Congress and deal effectively with a president who is likely to be a lame duck, choosing to step down after the final two years of his first term.

While Democrats, too, have suffered under ideological clashes with its vocal and frequently demeaning rhetoric of its far left wing, it is the Republicans who will continue to draw greater media attention and absorb more damage to its quest for partisan advantage.

McCarthy's audition for the speaker's role has not gone well up to this point. A strategy of indecision and efforts to keep all party elements happy will only result in his opening night followed immediately by closing night.

-
Copyright 2021 Carl Golden, distributed exclusively by Cagle Cartoons newspaper syndicate.

Carl Golden is a senior contributing analyst with the William J. Hughes Center for Public Policy at Stockton University in New Jersey. You can reach him at cgolden1937@gmail.com.

COMMENTS

DISCUSS ON FACEBOOK

1 Comment

Sort by

Add a comment...

Jane M Byrne

One should consider that should the GOP win back the House and/or Senate in next year's midterms they could end up being the foil to the remaining Presidency of Biden. Much like the GOP ended up being the foil to Clinton and Obama. Both saw their party losing both houses of Congress in 1994 and 2010 respectively. That did not stop Clinton and Obama from getting reelected in 1996 and 2012. The 2024 Presidential race is less than three years from now and in the world of politics one year is an eternity. For all we know, we may have reached herd immunity to Covid via vaccinations, treatments and/or natural immunity via surviving a bout with Covid w/o long term damage. Plus, if prices stabilize after the supply chain backlogs are corrected, the GOP could lose its prime argument against "Bidenomics". But, since I don't have a crystal ball, I'll just have to keep observing what happens.

Like · Reply · 1w

Facebook Comments Plugin

DISCUSS ON DISQUS

Start the discussion...

LOG IN WITH

OR SIGN UP WITH DISQUS ?

Name

Be the first to comment.

Subscribe Add Disqus to your site Add Disqus Add Do Not Sell My Data

CARL GOLDEN

Archives \(https://www.cagle.com/author/carl-golden/\)

Carl Golden is a senior contributing analyst with the William J. Hughes Center for Public Policy at Richard Stockton College of New Jersey. He served as press secretary for New Jersey Gov. Thomas H. Kean (1982-1990) and as communications director for New Jersey Gov. Christie Whitman (1994-1997). His commentary appears on editorial pages of newspapers in New Jersey and Philadelphia as well as on news websites.

\(http://www.caglecartoons.com/members/feed/columns/\)

View Full Archive \(https://www.cagle.com/author/carl-golden/\)

DAILY NEWSLETTER

Sign up for FREE! Get Cartoons Daily!

Sign up for our free daily newsletter by entering your email and clicking on subscribe.

jane.doe@example.com

Subscribe

CAGLE COLUMNISTS

More 👉 \(/category/syndicated-columns\)

DECLARING WAR ON THE UNVAXXED

(<https://www.cagle.com/michael-reagan/2021/12/declaring-war-on-the-unvaxxed>)

(<https://www.cagle.com/michael-reagan/2021/12/declaring-war-on-the-unvaxxed>)

by Michael Reagan (/author/michael-reagan)

I'm sick and tired of wearing masks. I'm sick and tired of vaccine mandates. I'm sick and tired of hearing the dire warnings and broken promises of politicians and incompetent public health officials. For almost two years they've ordere ...

(<https://www.cagle.com/michael-reagan/2021/12/declaring-war-on-the-unvaxxed>)

AIRING OF GRIEVANCES: SMOLLETT, SWIMMERS AND HEADPHONES

(<https://www.cagle.com/rob-manieri/2021/12/airing-of-grievances-smollett-swimmers-and-headphones>)

"...AND THE LIFETIME ACHIEVEMENT AWARD GOES TO JUSSIE SMOLLETT FOR PRODUCING, DIRECTING AND STARRING IN 'ATTACK OF THE RACIST HOMOPHOBES!'"

(<https://www.cagle.com/rob-manieri/2021/12/airing-of-grievances-smollett-swimmers-and-headphones>)

by Rich Manieri (/author/rob-manieri)

Back by lukewarm demand, for all of you Festivus enthusiasts, it's time for the annual airing of grievances. Let's get right to it. I have to get back to training for the feats of strength. For Jussie Smollett and anyone else contemplating s ...

(<https://www.cagle.com/rob-manieri/2021/12/airing-of-grievances-smollett-swimmers-and-headphones>)

AMERICAN ROADKILL

(<https://www.cagle.com/maria-fotopoulos/2021/12/american-roadkill>)

(<https://www.cagle.com/maria-fotopoulos/2021/12/american-roadkill>)
by Maria Fotopoulos (/author/maria-fotopoulos)

Millions of animals die on U.S. roads every year. Reductions in night-time driving would stem future senseless loss of wildlife. While data is difficult to come by for the number of animals killed on the 4. 17 million miles of roads in the U ...
(<https://www.cagle.com/maria-fotopoulos/2021/12/american-roadkill>)

CONTACT US

Cagle Cartoons, Inc. (<http://caglecartoons.com/company>)
Santa Barbara, CA
(805) 969-2829

Editorial (<https://daryl.cagle.com/contact/>)
Sales (mailto: sales@cagle.com?subject=Sales Inquiry)
Heroes (mailto: heroes@cagle.com?subject=Heores Support Request)
Billing (mailto: billing@cagle.com?subject=Billing Support Request)
Technical (mailto: support@cagle.com?subject=Support Request)

JOIN OUR NEWSLETTER

(/subscribe)

Subscribe (/subscribe) | Unsubscribe (/unsubscribe)

FEATURED CONTENT

Daryl Cagle's Blog (<http://www.darylcagle.com>)

Latest Cartoons (<http://cagle.com/cartoons>)

Most Popular Cartoons (<http://cagle.com/category/featured>)

Topical Galleries (<http://cagle.com/news/>)

Cartoonist Index (<http://cagle.com/cartoonists>)

News & Opinion (<http://cagle.com/columns>)

Cagle Books (<http://darylcagle.com/book>)

CAGLE CARTOONS INC.

Content Syndication (<http://www.cagleworld.com>)

Pay-Per-Use Licensing (<http://www.politicalcartoons.com>)

Publishing (<http://darylcagle.com/book>)

Cagle
Cartoons

© 2021 Cagle Cartoons, All Rights Reserved. Artwork, blogs and columns © each respective creator.
Privacy Policy (<https://cagleworld.com/privacy>) | Terms of Service (<https://cagleworld.com/terms-of-service>)