Summary of Key Changes

The Policy has been updated as follows:

- Added references to the National Incident Management System (NIMS) and the Incident Command System (ICS).
- Added general language pertaining to the types of incidents covered by the Emergency Operations Plan.
Stockton University has in place an Emergency Operations Plan, which is an all-hazards approach to planning for a disaster or other emergency event or incident. The Emergency Operations Plan establishes the framework for responses to emergencies, incidents, and planned events throughout Stockton University’s campuses and properties.

The Emergency Operations Plan was developed based on Homeland Security Presidential Directive (HSPD) 5. University agencies or departments that have responsibilities delineated in the Emergency Operations Plan will use the National Incident Management System (NIMS). NIMS allows and ensures proper coordination between local, state, and federal organizations in emergency response. In addition, the Incident Command System (ICS) will be utilized in all on-scene management of emergency events. The Emergency Operations Plan is tested annually by the University.

Policy I-125: Service Animals and Emotional Support Animals

Summary of Key Changes

The Policy has been updated as follows:

- Updated title of Policy Administrator;
- Added more information about emotional support animals;
- Reorganized content for clarity.
Stockton University permits the use of service animals and emotional support animals to assist individuals with disabilities. An individual with a disability is an individual who meets one of the following criteria:

1) has a physical or mental impairment that limits one or more major life activities (examples are walking, speaking, seeing, hearing, and performing manual tasks);

2) has a record of such impairment; or

3) is regarded as having such an impairment.

Service Animals

Title III of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) defines service animals as a dog or miniature horse that performs tasks specific to the individual’s disability. Animals other than dogs or miniature horses are not considered service animals.

Stockton University supports the use of service animals for an individual with a disability, including a physical, sensory, psychiatric, intellectual, or other mental disability, which will promote the independence and safety of the individual.

A service dog is permitted in all University facilities and grounds where students, the community, and other participants in services, programs, or activities are permitted.

Stockton University will make reasonable modifications within its policies and procedures to permit an individual with a disability the use of a miniature horse if the miniature horse has been individually trained to perform the task or work for that individual.

Emotional Support Animals

Emotional support animals are not classified as service animals under the ADA because they have not been trained to perform a specific job or task.
Emotional support animal provides therapeutic benefit to an individual with a documented disability. Emotional support animals also may be referred to as assistance, therapy, or comfort animals, however they are not pets and they are not service animals.

Documentation

Documentation is required to support a request for a service animal or an emotional support animal as an accommodation. Individuals requesting service animals or emotional support animals to reside in on-campus dwellings or to accompany an individual in an on-campus office space will need to complete the documentation with either the Learning Access Program (students), or the Office of Diversity and Inclusion (employees).

Individuals who have service or emotional support animals are subject to all applicable licensing and vaccination rules and regulations, including local animal control or public health requirements.

The service or emotional support animal must be under the control of its handler at all times. Service animals and emotional support animals may be excluded from campus when the handler lacks control, the animal’s behavior poses a direct threat to the health and safety of others, or if the animal is not housebroken.
