REFUGEE

Unsettled as I Roam: My Endless Search for A Home

A conversation with author Azmat Ashraf

Born in India in 1952, Azmat Ashraf belongs to a family that has been deeply affected by the redrawing of borders in the Indian subcontinent over two generations. He has twice been forced to flee from conflict zones and has spent the best part of his life in search of a home. After a thirty-eight-year career in international banking, working mostly in the Middle East, South Asia and East Asia, Azmat retired in 2019 to embark on the next phase of his life - as a writer. He now plans to devote his time trying to understand how societies can recognize and address the conditions that lead to displacement and exile of people. Azmat's first book REFUGEE was published in Canada in August 2020.
