Press, Stockton to host GOP U.S. Senate debate

From Press staff reports

All three candidates in the state's Republican U.S. Senate primary have agreed to participate in a debate cosponsored by The Press of Atlantic City and The Richard Stockton College of New Jersey.

The 90-minute debate will take place at 7 p.m. Thursday, May 22, on the Stockton campus in Galloway Township. The exact location will be confirmed next week. The candidates are state Sen. Joseph Pennacchio, R-Morris, Ramapo College professor Murray Sabrin and former U.S. Rep. Dick Zimmer.

The debate will be moderated by Sharon Schulman, director of the William J. Hughes Center for Public Policy at Stockton. Journalists including Press Political Editor John Froomjian will ask questions of the candidates.
