Galloway Township, NJ- The musical revue "Dateline Rock & Roll: A Retrospective of the 1950s to Present Day" will take place 7:30 p.m. Thursday April 28, 2011, at the Performing Arts Center (PAC) of The Richard Stockton College of New Jersey.

The show, directed by Professor of Music Dr. Beverly Vaughn, will include a representative sampling from every era of one of America's favorite musical genres.

"We're excited for this show because we feel it's very entertaining and also provides an overview of the way rock & roll has evolved across the decades," Vaughn said. "From folk rock to the "British invasion" to the psychedelic era, heavy metal and punk, we will cover it all."

Tickets are available now at the Richard Stockton College of New Jersey Performing Arts Center Box Office (609) 652-9000. General admission is $8, and students and senior tickets are $6. The show is presented by Stockton's School of Arts and Humanities.

The Stockton College Chorus, guest singers and bands will be performing a wide variety of rock standards, one-hit wonders and lesser known songs on the PAC stage.

"This event promises to deliver an insightful look at rock & roll while everyone has a lot of fun as well," Vaughn said.
