Galloway Township, NJ- The Stockton Center on Successful Aging (SCOSA) will present “Now Hear This,” a free informational seminar on hearing loss and hearing screenings on Thursday, February 28, 2013. The screenings and seminar will be held from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. at the Hammonton Canoe Club Senior Center on 100 Sports Drive in Hammonton.

Marjorie Taylor, Stockton assistant professor of speech pathology and audiology and SCOSA research fellow, will share her knowledge and upcoming research plans. One in three people older than 60, and half of those older than 85 have hearing loss, according to the National Institute on Deafness and Other Communication Disorders.

Dr. David Burdick, director of SCOSA, said, “We hope that this opportunity reaches area older adults, especially those who are unable to pay for services or who do not fully understanding the ailment and its treatment options.”

Visit the SCOSA website at www.stockton.edu/scosa for updates and schedule changes or call 609-626-3591. For information about the research project, please contact Marjorie Taylor at Marjorie.Taylor@stockton.edu or call 609-626-5512.
