GRANTS OFFICE

THE RICHARD STOCKTON COLLEGE OF NEW JERSEY

April 2014

Call for Proposals – CDC Career Development Committee

The Grants Office is now accepting CDC Applications. The deadline for filing applications is Monday, May 5th at 4:30pm.

Be sure to look over the guidelines for answers to your questions regarding application criteria, eligibility, and funding priority.

One complete hard copy of the application should be delivered to the Grants Office in E-226 along with one complete electronic (scanned) copy to grants@stockton.edu. Both copies must be received by deadline.

Internal Grant Funding Available

The Grants Office offers an array of funding opportunities for Faculty members to support and encourage their scholarship. Awards are limited to one request from each fund per fiscal year, and intended to supplement other funds, as appropriate.

To apply, the PI should complete the request on the appropriate form. An approved award will be processed with the PI's school handling the paperwork.

Funding for Publication, Exhibit, Performance Charges, or Professional Poster

- To defray costs required by publisher or venue as condition of completing the project.
- Award up to $500.

Book Subvention Funding

- Offers subsidies to defray costs required by the publisher as condition of publication.
- Generally $750 average award.

Funding for Principal Investigator Travel

- Supports PI travel to discuss proposal with program officer of external funding agency.
- $100 to $500 toward travel costs to meet with outside funding agency.

The 14th Annual Day of Scholarship boasted its first year as a two-day event! Over March 19th and March 20th attendees were treated to a wide variety of presentations ranging from talks on politics to health studies, pedagogy and more. The event kicked off with a welcome from Beth Olsen, Director of Grants Development.

A special surprise celebratory luncheon was held on Wednesday in honor of Beth Olsen and her impending retirement in June of this year. Provost Harvey Kesselman kicked off the luncheon with a recap of Beth's years with Stockton and thanks for her service. He was joined by former provost David Carr who also said a few words of praise for Beth's tenure as the Grants Office head. Please take a moment to view Beth's tribute created to highlight Beth's long and impressive career at Stockton!

The Grants Office extends thanks to all those who took time out of their schedule to present at and/or attend the Day of Scholarship. Much thanks is also given to Event Services, Service-Learning and the Print Shop for their help in creating a day in which Faculty and Students share their accomplishments with one another and engage in intellectual discourse. The success of the day is a direct result of the Stockton community's support!

We look forward to next year's event and as always, welcome any feedback you may have. Whether in attendance or not, all are welcome to take the Grants Office Day of Scholarship Survey so that you can share your comments and/or suggestions!
