Policy VI-13.2: Employee Disciplinary Guidelines

Summary of Key Changes

The Policy has been updated as follows:

- Updated Policy Administrator's title
- Added language regarding corrective action and conduct unbecoming
- Added authority provision

STOCKTON UNIVERSITY

POLICY

Employee Disciplinary Guidelines

Policy Administrator: Associate Vice President for Human Resources
Authority: N.J.S.A. 18A:3B-6, N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)6
Effective Date: December 30, 2008; May 30, 2009; August 10, 2010; February 16, 2011; September 26, 2018; TBD
Index Cross-References: Procedure 6140 Disciplinary Guidelines for Supervisors, Procedure 6220 Disciplinary Matters
Policy File Number: VI-13.2
Approved By: Board of Trustees

It is the policy of the University that when an employee fails to meet performance expectations or demonstrates inappropriate conduct or behavior, the supervisor shall document the behavior, and take corrective action or report the conduct or behavior as mandated by other University requirements. Disciplinary action can be issued for conduct that is contrary to, or in violation of, Federal or State laws or regulations or University policies or procedures. Discipline can also be issued for any behavior that is inconsistent with the University's Mission, Vision or Values. All University employees can be disciplined for conduct unbecoming of a public employee regardless of whether it occurs in the workplace or outside of the work environment, including any social media platform. All University employees must refrain from engaging in conduct that adversely impacts public trust and confidence in the University, or otherwise portrays the University in a negative light.

The purpose of any disciplinary action is corrective, not punitive. The imposition of disciplinary action should be timely, appropriate, and directly related to the seriousness of the infraction committed by the employee. Once an infraction is identified, the supervisor and/or manager, in consultation with the Office of Human Resources, will identify and impose the appropriate corrective action(s). The University follows the concept of progressive discipline based on the nature of the violation and the severity of the conduct or behavior, and takes into consideration any prior relevant disciplinary history. University policies, procedures or practices may warrant the imposition of a more severe sanction, up to and including termination. In addition, there may be instances where the first infraction involves serious misconduct, performance problems, and violation of laws, and in those instances progressive discipline may not be appropriate.

Illegal behavior generally is not eligible for progressive discipline, and may result in immediate termination and referral to law enforcement authorities.

Managers and TES employees are at-will employees and as such, progressive discipline may not apply to the same extent as a represented employee.

- D. Intellectual Property means and refers to all forms of technology and expression whose ownership is subject to legal protection in the United States and/or internationally, including but not limited to patents, copyrights, mask works, trademarks, tangible research property, and rights in data and other proprietary information. Some types of Intellectual Property, such as computer software, may be subject to protection under both patent and copyright laws.
- E. Invention means any potentially patentable new and useful process, machine, manufacture or composition of matter or any new and useful improvement to the same.

Use of classroom resources, support for educational program activities (e.g., for class projects), and library resources shall not be deemed significant use of University Resources for the purposes of this Policy.

GENERAL POLICY:

A. Ownership

- 1. Intellectual Property created by the University Community is owned by the University if it is created either:
  - (a) within the scope of University employment, including work under University grants and contracts with third parties or from work directly related to their responsibilities at the University (“work made for hire”); or
  - (b) with more than Incidental Use of University Resources.
- 2. If the Intellectual Property is created outside the scope of University employment and with no more than Incidental Use of University Resources, the Inventor/Author will own the Intellectual Property.
- 3. All Scholarly Works created by faculty within the scope of employment shall be owned by the Author. The University shall retain a non-exclusive, perpetual, and royalty-free right to use the Scholarly Works for pedagogical, scholarly, research, or administrative purposes, unless the Author specifically demonstrates that such royalty-free use significantly impairs the Author’s right to commercialize the Scholarly Work. Scholarly Works are not considered “works made for hire” under this Policy.

B. Application of Policy to Specific Circumstances

1. The University recognizes and affirms the tradition in higher education that Scholarly Works are owned by the faculty member authoring them rather than the employing educational institution, even if they otherwise come within the scope of Section A.1 above. Faculty ownership of such Scholarly Works may, however, be affected by the terms of agreements with third-party sponsors, referred to in Section 6 below, or by agreements between faculty and the University with respect to special projects as referred to in Section 7 below.
2. The University shall retain a non-exclusive, irrevocable, and royalty-free right to use the Scholarly Works for pedagogical, scholarly, research, or administrative purposes.
3. Ownership of an Invention shall be determined by reference to the date of Invention and to principles of inventorship which, in turn, shall be determined according to United States law.
4. If Intellectual Property is made by a student as part of student coursework at the University, the rights to that Intellectual Property are ordinarily owned by the student in accordance with Section A.2 above. The University, however, retains the right to use student works for pedagogical, scholarly, research, or administrative purposes. The University will retain ownership when Intellectual Property arises from the student's participation in sponsored work under Section A.1 above. The University also may retain ownership under the terms of an agreement with the student, such as an agreement regarding financial assistance, a research fellowship, or other student employment agreement, or a special agreement as described in Section 7 below.
5. Where there is dispute between an individual and the University as to ownership rights under this Policy, the President shall appoint an ad hoc committee to conduct a review of the matter. The Committee shall consist of four members appointed by the President, and at least three members of the Committee shall be faculty members. The Committee shall review the dispute, keep a record of its proceeding, and make a recommendation to the Provost, who shall render a decision on behalf of the University.
6. The allocation of rights in Intellectual Property arising from research or creative work sponsored by government, industry, or other external organizations will typically be governed by the terms of a written agreement between the University and the sponsor. The University ordinarily will be required by the agreement or by law to grant the sponsor a license, maintain or disseminate data, or grant other rights relating to Intellectual Property arising from the research or work and accordingly will take ownership of such Intellectual Property to meet its contractual obligations. Ownership and other provisions of this Policy are subject to such agreements.
7. The University and an individual faculty member, staff member, or student may negotiate specific written agreements for special projects such as (a) University publications, digital courseware, or distance-learning curricula, (b) projects that the faculty or staff are specifically assigned to create or (c) any type of recorded synchronous course. Such agreements may reallocate rights or otherwise alter application of this Policy.

8. The University shall own the Intellectual Property if the University indicates, in writing, at the time it grants an alternative assignment within load, that it intends to claim ownership to any work made possible by the alternate assignment.
9. Members of the University Community who enter into consulting agreements or other private agreements with parties outside of the University must ensure that such agreements contain no requirement to assign or otherwise transfer rights in any Intellectual Property owned by the University under this Policy. Arrangements with other research institutions that involve dual appointments, visiting scientist agreements, and other arrangements that may require exceptions to this Policy require prior University written approval by the Provost.
10. The Inventor shall assign all patentable inventions and any applications or patents resulting therefrom to the University. The Inventor shall execute documents of assignment to convey to the University all the Inventor's interest in the invention and shall cooperate and assist the University in all phases of the patent application process. Upon request, each person covered by this Policy will sign an appropriate agreement to implement this Policy.
11. Members of the University Community are required to promptly contact the Office of General Counsel when Intellectual Property has been developed and patent protection may be warranted. After review, the University may decide to file a patent application on the Intellectual Property. If the University decides not to pursue patent protection, the University may assign its intellectual property rights to third parties, including the Inventor, in which case, the University retains a non-exclusive, royalty-free, perpetual license to use the Invention for internal University purposes.

C. Digital Courses

1. Ownership of Academic Content. The University's digital learning materials will incorporate Scholarly Work and may also incorporate academic content owned by third parties and used in a University Digital Course by agreement with the third party ("Third-Party Content"). The copyright to Scholarly Work embodied in the University Digital Course shall be owned by the Author.
2. Ownership of Digital Delivery Infrastructure. University Digital Courses will be delivered through or otherwise incorporate Digital Delivery Infrastructure, at times in combination with third-party software or delivery platforms. The Digital Delivery Infrastructure shall be owned by the University or, as needed, used by agreement with third-party owners.

3. Ownership of University Digital Courses. University Digital Courses will normally include Digital Delivery Infrastructure, as well as content owned by others, such as Scholarly Work and Third-Party Content. University Digital Courses will bear a University copyright and the University will own the University Digital Course itself, as a whole, subject to licenses from faculty and third-party content owners. The copyright to Scholarly Work embodied in the University Digital Course shall be owned by the Author.
4. Revenue from University Digital Courses. The formula for distribution of potential revenue from the use of a University Digital Course will be negotiated between the faculty member and the University at the time the University contracts with the faculty member to develop the instructional content for a University Digital Course.

TRADEMARKS:

The University owns all trademarks used to identify the University, its programs, goods, or services. Unauthorized use of trademarks on goods or services offered for sale is trademark infringement, may constitute counterfeiting, and is punishable under both federal and state laws. The University will pursue all instances of trademark infringement to the fullest extent of the law.

The University maintains a trademark licensing program for use of its trademarks on items offered for sale. The most important objective of the licensing program is to guard against inappropriate use of the University's trademarks, while maintaining a consistent brand standard and the integrity of the marks being licensed. The quality of the proposed product bearing the trademark and the design incorporating the trademark are reviewed prior to licensing and will be approved by the University in its sole discretion.

Any items offered for sale to the public, and any items offered for giveaway to the public for charitable, promotional or any other purposes, bearing any of the University's trademarks must be licensed by the University. However, items acquired by a University department or affiliated group via a Stockton University purchase order for internal use do not require a license.

Members of the University Community, University departments, or student organizations that are recognized by the University's Office of Student Development that sell items bearing any of the University's trademarks for fundraising or other purposes must acquire such items from a licensed supplier or be licensed if they are self-producing the items or using a non-licensed supplier.

REVENUE FROM INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY:

When the University owns the Intellectual Property, the University shall have the right to determine the licensing, marketing and/or use of such work and shall retain all royalties or other revenue or benefits from the commercialization of such work, unless there is a mutual written agreement between the University and the Inventor or Author regarding shared ownership of the Intellectual Property.

When a member of the University Community owns the Intellectual Property or Scholarly Work, such member shall have the right to determine the licensing, marketing and/or use of such work and shall retain all royalties or other revenue or benefits from the commercialization of such work, unless there is a mutual written agreement between the University and the Inventor or Author regarding shared ownership of the Intellectual Property.

If the Intellectual Property was developed with support sponsored by government, industry or other external organizations and the sponsor regulates the distribution of income, any applicable regulations or agreement of sponsor will govern revenues generated from the Intellectual Property.

ADMINISTRATION:

The Office of General Counsel is responsible for general oversight and administration of this Policy. In addition, the Office of General Counsel shall make recommendations to the President of the University regarding procedures, guidelines and responsibilities for the administration, licensing and sale of Intellectual Property owned by the University. The Office of General Counsel also will negotiate the terms of all licensing and sale agreements for the transfer or disposition of any Intellectual Property owned by the University.
