

Stockton Offers Courses in Screenwriting, Filmmaking Techniques at Woodbine Site

Enroll Now for College-Credit Courses to Start Sept. 4

For Immediate Release

Monday, Aug. 4, 2013

Contact: Maryjane Briant
News and Media Relations Director
Galloway Township, NJ 08205
Maryjane.Briant@stockton.edu
(609) 652-4593

Galloway, NJ – If you’ve always wanted to make a movie or turn that story in your head into a screenplay, The Richard Stockton College of New Jersey is offering you courses this fall at its Cape May County instructional site in Woodbine.

Robert Steele, director of Media Instruction at Stockton’s Sam Azeez Museum of Woodbine Heritage, will be teaching the four-credit college courses, Introduction to Screenwriting and Techniques of Film & Video Production, starting Sept. 4.

“No previous experience is necessary, just the motivation to be creative and express yourself in the medium of film/video” said Steele, an award-winning filmmaker and screenwriter who has taught at Stockton for eight years. “All cameras, microphones, lighting and editing equipment will be provided,” he added.

Steele noted that the class sizes are small, and urged anyone interested to sign up while there is still room.

Techniques of Film & Video Production will be offered on Mondays and Wednesdays from 3:35-5:25 p.m.; Introduction to Screenwriting will be offered on Mondays and Wednesdays from 6-7:50 p.m. Both courses will be held in Room WIS 101 at Anne Azeez Hall, 610 Washington Ave. in Woodbine from Sept. 4-Dec. 11.

To register, go to: www.stockton.edu and type the word “registrar” in search box.

#