Grants Tip of the Month

The Principal Investigator/Project Director has primary responsibility for achieving the technical success of the project, while also complying with the financial and administrative policies and regulations associated with the award. Although Principal Investigators may have administrative staff (Grants Office, Administration & Finance, Budget Unit Divisions) to assist them with the management of project funds, the ultimate responsibility for the management of the sponsored research award rests with the Principal Investigator. The PI's fundamental responsibilities during the post-award phase of a sponsored research award include:

- Execute the project as outlined in the funded proposal, using sound management techniques in collaboration with the Grants Office and the Administration & Finance office.
- Carry out the project's financial plan as presented in the funded proposal, or make changes to the plan following a prescribed set of policies and procedures.
- Report project progress to the sponsor as outlined in the terms of the award.
- Maintain an accurate record of project related expenses.
- Comply with all Stockton policies and procedures related to project management and personnel practices.
- Comply with all applicable sponsor rules, regulations and/or terms and conditions of the award.
